

Peter Olumide Oyebamiji

For the passion in me I chose this career as a web developer. A self-learner with the knowledge in HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript and ReactJs, I'm proficient with front-End development. My strengths include good communication, interpersonal skills, quick learning capabilities, diligence, loyalty and high integrity.

I am a well experienced individual in the corporate environment with dynamic analytical and critical thinking. My main objective is to work with a disciplined team of software developers and contribute my own quota to the effective development of a career oriented organization.
